Ye Olde Artists' Village Motor Courte

The city council, the planning commission, the city attorney, the city clerk, the building inspector, everybody who haunts city hall, are going to have a very rough time of it for the next few weeks from the people who own twenty-five foot lots, but what the city council, the planning commission, the city attorney, etc., etc., etc. are trying to do about the twenty-five foot lots, though possibly painful to the lot owners, will be of inestimable benefit to the community at large, so it behooves the rest of us to give our city officials all the aid, comfort and encouragement we can, so they will find the strength to face the dark days ahead and emerge from their travail with an ordinance that will banish forever the threat of a string of motor courts and Santa Cruz beach cottages on Carmel's lovely, woodsy, newly surfaced Junipero Street.

Wednesday night City Attorney William Hudson shattered the somnolent calm of the council meeting by announcing that almost all the lots on Junipero north of Ocean are of 25 foot frontage only, that there is nothing in the existing ordinance to prohibit anyone's building on them, that Junipero is destined to be the main thoroughfare through town from the state highway, and what a set up for some one with big but unpleasant ideas to buy up a string of pigmy lots, run up a row of Kozy Kottage type of structure and hang out a sign, Ye Olde Artists' Village Motor Courte!

Chills!

However, Mr. Hudson had an ordinance. It would limit building on twenty-five foot lots to owners who had possession of the lots prior to October 1, 1947. This would protect the present owners of the lots and prevent anyone's buying up a string of them after October 1 for the purpose of building an auto court. Several members of the council and the audience thought there was still too big a hole for the entrance of auto courts. There was nothing to prevent original owners from building for a buyer. It was suggested that the ordinance might be revised to specify that owners of one isolated twenty-five foot lot might build, but if he possessed two adjacent twenty-five foot lots, he be required to combine them into one. Three lots could be combined into two. This idea met with some favor but it had its weak points.

Finally, it was decided to give more study to the problem in an effort to discover how best the community as a whole can be protected without penalizing too severely the lot owners. The planning commission will be asked to assist. Meanwhile, lest some twenty-five foot lot owners should try to get in under the tape, an interim ordinance has had first reading, prohibiting the building inspector from granting building permits for construction on lots of less than 4000 square feet (the conventional 40 foot lot). —Wilma Cook.

Simplicity, Clarity, Sensitivity Virtues of Dora Hagemeyer's New Book, The White Sands of Carmel

BY NANCY LOFTON

The three poems on the feature page of this issue of the Pine Cone are from Dora Hagemeyer's newly published book of verse called The White Sands of Carmel. Simplicity, clarity and sensitivity are the virtues of Miss Hagemeyer's poetry, and if she once in a while falls into the error of the commonplace she falls in good company. Her errors are almost precisely the same as those of William Wordsworth. Many of the tenets expressed by Mr. Wordsworth in his Preface to the Lyrical Ballads of 1798 are the tenets of Miss Hagemeyer, and on the whole they make a substantial credo. There is a fine clarity and cleanness in both her emotion and her manner of expressing it. She endeavors to simplify and pare away and distill, all of which are good processes. She needs no violent occasion, no volcanic scene to feed upon. A first rain is as exciting to her as a hurricane might be to others. There is a crystal clear awareness in many of her lines and a sharp sense of immediacy. She is aware also of the value of indirection.

The return of birds, the colors of trees, the curve of waves, silence and the quality of the sea and the beach in fog are her themes by means of which she expresses her emotion. To borrow terms from painting, her method is sometimes impressionistic and sometimes expressionistic, though she is generally free from the pathetic fallacy.

Miss Hagemeyer apparently regards a sea wave or a tree with as much understanding and sympathy as she does a human being, and this volume of poetry is expressly about the physical nature of Carmel, which is a place worthy of attention solely for its sands and hills and trees. There is in her poems joy at the discovery of form and pattern and direction which may be found with a perceptive eye. Many of her poems stand alone, regardless of their subject matter. Her forms are sure and clean and simple and her ear is good. Both her experience and her expression are vivid and highly personal though sometimes muted. There are no rending depths and no unbearable heights in her poetry, but there is delicacy and insight and a suggestion which on occasion becomes powerful. Her poem Pagan, and many others of her lines, have a definite quickening power. These seven lines are a good example of her work:

The inner beauty speaking to the sun,
The sheer translucent ecstasy of leaves,
The glory of response, the fire and flame,
The transformation, magic, mastery
That lifted up the commonplace, and made
Bright mansions of the ordinary world
Are gone."

"There Aren't Any Short Stories Being Published Any More," Says Harry Dixon, Short Story Writer

BY GLENN CLAIRMONTE

The man whom Ripley featured in his Believe It Or Not series for having attended 100 public schools, before graduating at the age of 11, is living among us and supporting his family by unadulterated wits. He is H. Vernor Dixon, known as Harry, author of the ferry command stories which appeared in Collier's at intervals during the war, who is now jabbing the faithful typewriter, turning out another of his characteristic clipper stories for a national magazine. Harry Dixon graduated from high school at 15 and attended the Sacramento Junior College for a year before he started to fly a plane—and aviation has been one of his hobbies for 23 years. No wonder his Saturday Evening Post stories about airplane elopements have the right pitch.

At first, thinking he would like to make a painter of himself, Dixon enrolled in the old Mark Hopkins school in San Francisco, which later became the California School of Fine Arts. But, he says, he had only to look at the work of the fellows around him to realize he would not excel in that line, and he did want to excel. So he gave up art as a serious pursuit but still enjoys it on the side, still takes out time to sketch scenes around Carmel in between sessions of batting out 25 short stories and a couple of serials a year.

"There aren't any short stories being published, not any more," he said. "The editors are clamoring for something breezy, and it's a mistake, too. The thing they demand now makes you think of inhaling champagne bubbles without tasting the wine. They don't want a writer to work out a plot, but they do want him to strengthen the story line. That's one thing a

Cal-Navy Game Movies At H. S. For U. C. Alumni

University of California Alumni who were unable to attend the California-Navy Game in Berkeley two weeks ago will have an opportunity to see a complete movie of it at Carmel High School library Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, Al Fry, chairman of the Carmel U. C. Alumni Committee, announced yesterday.

Henry Jones of Monterey, who made arrangements to obtain the films, believes he will be able to get movies of all the California games this season, including the Wisconsin game.

Fry expressed his regret that Pacific Coast Conference rules make it necessary to restrict attendance at the game movies to California Alumni and their immediate families.

Free Showing Of Color Projections In Sunset Auditorium

Charles L. Dawson, principal of the Carmel Adult School, yesterday announced that, for the greater convenience of the class, Enid Larsen's students in microbiology will hereafter meet in Sunset Auditorium, instead of at the high school, each Wednesday evening at 7:30. Visitors are welcome to enjoy the lecture and demonstrations, as well as the projections on the screen showing microscopic animals magnified many times.

"For those who are less scientific than artistic the color effects of these projections will be vastly entertaining," said Mr. Dawson, "and for those wishing to add to their scientific information the lectures will be enlightening."

No formality is required for admission to the auditorium for these meetings. Men and women and students may enter at their convenience.

Adults Asked To Assist Cub Scouts; Meeting Tonight

J. B. Martin, cub master, has called a special meeting of parents and boys for 7:30 tonight at Sunset cafeteria to make plans for the Carmel Cub Pack, sponsored by the Carmel Lions Club.

The purpose of the meeting is to get enough women to serve as den mothers for 60 boys of the ages of eight to twelve.

A den mother is needed for each group of eight boys, and so far only one woman has volunteered. Unless more come forward, the boys will not be able to organize for the cub scout work. The den mother's work is largely executive, since she is assisted by two older boy scouts. Only one evening a week of her time is required.

All Lion Club members have been asked to assist in finding women to undertake this social service.

"Mrs. Moonlight" Selected For Next Playhouse Production

The next play to be presented at the Playhouse will be Mrs. Moonlight which had a long run in New York some years ago, and Lee Crowe as director is now holding readings to select the cast. It will open November 17 and be shown on several subsequent Monday evenings.

At the close of the run of Mrs. Moonlight, Elmer Rice's play, Counseller at Law, will be given by the Golden Bough Players. The cast for this play is now being selected also.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

The regular meeting of the Carmel Unified School District Board of Trustees will be held Tuesday, October 14 at 7:00 in the board room at the high school.

COMMUNITY CHEST DONATIONS

Carmel Headquarters for the Community Chest Drive is at the P. G. and E. office on Dolores near Seventh. Local people may leave their donations there with Miss P. J. Bowen, who is in charge.

Expert To Study Crossing

A representative of the State Division of Highways will arrive here early next week to confer with Superintendent of Schools Stuart Mitchell on what traffic safety devices should be installed at the junction of Ocean Avenue and Highway No. 1, where the students cross on their way to and from the high school.

Under consideration are a traffic control light, a yellow fog light or possibly an overpass.

Superintendent Mitchell reported to the school board, at its last meeting, a near accident on a recent foggy morning when a truck almost crashed into a group of students before the driver became aware that he was bearing down on a school crossing.

Mitchell was informed by a board member that over a year ago efforts had been made to get the co-operation of the state highway department in marking the crossing with a fog light or a stop light but the highway department had refused to take action on the grounds that there was not enough traffic on Highway No. 1 to warrant the safety devices for the students. "The state man said there hadn't been any accidents at that crossing yet. I suppose there has to be an accident before the state is justified in going to the expense of putting in a traffic light," the member said. However, the board directed Mitchell to try again.

He received a letter this week from the District Engineer, L. H. Gibson, San Luis Obispo, promising that a traffic expert would arrive here soon to look over the situation.

Fact Finding Committee Chosen For Park Project

First steps were taken toward finding a way to finance the acquisition for a state park of the Carmel River Mouth and the Shore Line to Point Lobos at the public meeting held last week at the high school under the joint sponsorship of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society and the Lobos League.

Informed by County Planning Commission Chairman Carmel Martin, Supervisor Andrew Jacobsen and Planning Commission Secretary Chas. Vogel that the local people had the blessing of the county officials if they could find a way to raise the money needed to match state funds, the citizens chose a fact finding committee to discover how much money would be needed and what would be the most practical method of raising it.

The fact finding committee, which will meet within the next two weeks, is made up of Francis Whitaker, Mrs. Joseph W. Stilwell, City Councilman Keith Evans, Laidlaw Williams, Gen. C. E. Brigham and Wesley Kergan.

Robert Peck, president of the Audubon Society, and Whitaker, president of the Lobos League, jointly presided over the meeting.

CARMEL AND PACIFIC GROVE OPEN LEAGUE PLAY TONIGHT

Tonight on the Pacific Grove High School turf the Carmel Padres and the Pacific Grove Breakers will square off in their traditional big game of the year. Regardless of any other games which might be played during the season, the meeting between these natural rivals is always the one in which victory is most desired. In six years of competition the Breakers have emerged victorious four times and the Padres have come down in front twice. Pacific Grove holds a three year jinx on the Carmel lads and the locals are determined to put a stopper on the hex tonight.

The season record of the two teams indicate a closely contested fracas. PG has a 26 to 0 plastering of Gilroy to their credit and a 13-6 loss to the good Fremont eleven. Carmel tied the Monterey Reserves, whipped Gustine, and lost a close one to Campbell. Campbell is in the same league with Fremont and is about on a par as a football power. Pacific Grove operates from the T and a Stagg spread which features powerful passing possibilities, while Carmel employs a man-in-motion T. The Breakers have in their lineup Ben Mack and Jerry Nair, who were primarily responsible for PG's 6 to 0 victory last year. Mack is a bruising back on offense and is rated the best line-backer in the league when on defense. Nair was unanimously chosen all-league guard last year and has shown the same aggressive play this season.

Carmel's hopes have soared during the past week as Bill Hodgson and Dick Garguilo have again donned suits and will be fit for play tonight. Dick provides a lot of quick to the Padre attack and Bill is the fastest charging lineman on the red and grey roster. Both boys missed the Campbell game and their collective ability was missed by the Carmel team. New red and white uniforms will be sported by the Padres for the first time this season and new side line coats will help to keep the players comfortable.

When Carmel takes the field at 8 o'clock tonight, the probable starting lineup will be: Captain Owen Greenan (LE), Newt Goodrich (LT), Rod Dewar (LG), Art Harber (C), Bill Hodgson (RG), Floyd Adams (RT), Dick Weer (RE), Paul Warner (QB), Dick Garguilo (LH), Lew McCreery (FB), and Tom Handley (RH). Sure to see plenty of action are Mike Monahan, Bill Johnson, Basil Allaire, Elton Clark, Curtis Gorham, Tom Corley, Dick Sumner, Bob Rissell, Murrey Wight, Dan Holmes, and Bob Barry.

CARMEL PADRES PROVE PERFECT HOSTS

Playing as though determined to make Campbell's stay in Carmel a pleasant one, the Padre varsity graciously presented the visitors with three touchdowns and unselfishly took only two for themselves. When the Carmel lads tried to play football they ran roughshod over the big Campbell eleven, but, unfortunately, they didn't get the urge often enough. Campbell fielded a scrappy gang of footballers and came back after twice being behind.

Carmel chose to receive to start the game and on a perfectly executed reverse nearly went the distance on the kickoff. Warner received the Campbell kickoff and made a clever hand-off to Tom Handley, who scampered some 75 yards to the visitors 5 yard line. At this point an attempted lateral went astray and Campbell recovered the bounding pigskin. Campbell's Tom Wilson, a nifty back, kicked out of danger and the Padres again went to work like they meant business. It was McCreery, Handley, and Barry knifing for substantial gains off the Indians tackles. Handley finally found pay dirt after rambling 12 yards inside the Campbell left end. Hare's attempted conversion was blocked. Campbell came roaring back, blocked a punt on the Padre 12 and scored with two quick thrusts. Their attempted conversion was wide and the scoreboard read, 6-6. Shortly after the ensuing kickoff the visitors intercepted one of Warner's passes and sent Wilson through right tackle for a 70 yard romp and a touchdown. The conversion missed again and the half ended with Campbell leading, 12 to 6.

The Padres came out winging to open the second half and soon had the 7 points needed to put them ahead. The backs were driving behind vicious line blocking to put the red and grey machine on the Campbell 20 yard line. At this point Warner hit Greenan with a well directed pass which put the Padres on the 1 yard line. A QB sneak by Warner was good for 6 and Handley rammed through for the extra point.

An intercepted pass late in the 4th period set up Campbell's winning touchdown and they scored on a short flip over the Carmel linebackers. The conversion was good and the final score—Campbell 19, Carmel 13.

Rod Dewar and Dick Weer stood out on the Carmel line, while the hard running of Tom Handley featured the Padre backfield play. Carmel made more first downs and more yardage, but Campbell outfought and outscored the locals.

ADULT BADMINTON AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM

Badminton enthusiasts are invited to take part in the 2½ hour sessions which are held each Tuesday and Thursday night, from 7:30 to 10, at the high school gym. Plenty of rackets are available and birds may be purchased from the instructor. Beginners are given an opportunity to learn the fundamentals and rules of the game, while experienced players can find plenty of good competition. Both men and women make up the classes and mixed doubles matches comprise much of the evenings play. The only equipment needed is a pair of non-marking tennis shoes.

Remember the nights—Tuesday and Thursdays—7:30 to 10—at the high school gym.

LIGHTWEIGHTS LOSE TO WATSONVILLE 26-6

A strong Watsonville lightweight eleven racked up four quick touchdowns in the first half before the green Carmel lighties could get the feel of the game and eventually wound up on the long end of a 26-6 score. Played under the arcs at Watsonville, the game was featured by the strong comeback made by the scrappy Carmel Babes during the second half. They held the sturdy Watsonville backs in check and manufactured a score for themselves. Brilliant open field running by Walt Frey set up the Padre score and gave the Watsonville defense some uneasy moments. Jim Hare, playing his first game as a T formation quarterback, showed a fine aptitude for ball handling and passing. The nervous Padre backs were having some difficulty holding onto the ball but they will improve fast after their first taste of grid warfare. Frank Timmins turned in a fine game at center and blocked a punt to aid the Padre cause.

The next outing for the limiteds will be against the strong Salinas lightweight eleven.

PACIFIC COAST TENNIS

Last Sunday was probably the last American Tournament appearance of Jack Kramer as an Amateur and on hand to see Jack Kramer in action at the California Tennis Club in San Francisco were Jennefer Lloyd, Cynthia Carr, Edelen Cory, Carol Timbers, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kohler, of Carmel.

For the younger members of the group it was the climax of their participation in the 58th running of this Pacific Coast Tennis Championship. There was much excitement when Kramer played his singles match against last year's National singles finalist Tom Brown, of San Francisco, and won 6-4, 6-2, 8-6. The next match between Margaret Osborne, Wimbledon Champion, and Dorothy Head brought out the superiority of a net attack versus the steady back court type of play. Miss Osborne won handily 6-2, 6-1. But the thrill of the day was contained in the Men's Doubles finals when Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder teamed up against Australia's Jack Bromwich and Geofrey Brown. The two Australians play left handed forehands, two handed on the right side, and serve right hand. The play was so fast that at times the ball was lost in flight and it was difficult for the umpire to quiet the crowd of more than 2000. Kramer and Schroeder won 8-6, 7-5, 10-8.

The results of our players in this tournament: Kim Hollins lost to Pete Dolliver 6-1, 8-6; Jennefer Lloyd lost to Nancy Evar 6-4, 6-2; Stewart Emery lost to Fred Bluett 6-3, 7-5; Pat Timbers lost to Francis Matson 4-6, 6-4, 6-0; Cynthia Carr beat Marilyn Atwood 3-6, 6-3, 8-6; Edelen Cory lost to Dot Kiser 6-1, 6-1; Dick Hawk beat Malcolm Smith 6-2, 4-6, 6-4; Cynthia Carr defaulted to Marjorie McCord; Dick Hawk lost to Bill Stevenson 6-1, 7-5.

12 year old Jack Frost of Monterey, won the 13 and under singles championship and went to the semi-finals in 15 and under doubles.

Mitchell, Hull Speakers For P.-T. A. Meeting

Stuart Mitchell, Superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, and Arthur Hull, Principal of Sunset School, will be the speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Carmel Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday, at the cafeteria at Sunset. City Attorney Wins In Tilt With State Board of Equalization

The State Board of Equalization has conceded the right of the city of Carmel to have a public hearing on the issuance of an on sale beer and wine license to the Colliard Chop House.

City Attorney William Hudson has received notice that the hearing will be held here some time after November 15, at a date yet to be specified.

The city's protest to the issuance of the license arrived at the State Board's office on the fifteenth day, the last day of the period in which the city could file a protest. The board, following an old custom of issuing the licenses on the fifteenth day, granted the license without knowledge of the arrival of the protest.

Attorney Hudson questioned the legality of the board's practice of issuing licenses before the sixteenth day, and threatened suit in district court. This is the first time the fifteen-day issuance practice has been questioned and the action of the board in granting the hearing may be regarded as a tacit acknowledgment of the soundness of Attorney Hudson's contention.

CARMEL DRIVE-IN TAKES 3 OUT OF 4

The Carmel girls on the Drive-In Team are Alberta Pereira, Yvon Mercurio, Jackie Briggs, Marge Espinosa and Frances Newman.

Paganini Quartet Concert Date Set For October 26

With the recovery of Robert Maas, cellist, from a recent illness, the New York management of the Paganini Quartet has this week confirmed October 26 as the date for the Carmel concert by this distinguished group, originally planned for this week. A number of concert engagements in the present tour of the Quartet had to be canceled, and others postponed while the eldest member of the group went to the hospital in San Francisco for a complete rest.

Mrs. Grace C. Howden, president of the Monterey County Symphony Association, has announced that tickets will be on sale at all music stores on October 16, ten day's in advance of the concert, which is being given for the benefit of the Symphony Association. All persons who, by contributing to the current fund drive of the Symphony Association, have become members of the organization will be entitled to apply to any store handling the tickets on October 14 or 15 for an advance reservation. Members of the Association presenting their membership cards to ticket sellers will be given a preference in the selection of seats in advance of the public sale.

The Carmel Art Association announced this week that it would collaborate with the Symphony Association in acting as host at a reception to be held following the concert by the quartet. The public reception will be held at the Carmel Art Gallery on north Dolores Street.

Miss Muriel Simpson, in charge of the membership drive, says that so far $1,750 has been subscribed.

'There Aren't Any Short Stories Being Published' —Harry Dixon, Writer

writer learns in Hollywood, to strengthen the story line, and it's a good lesson for a magazine writer to remember."

After leaving school, for 12 or 14 years Dixon was an "eccentric" dancer, teamed with his sister, now the Mrs. John Wardman of Carmel, and together they toured the country on the Orpheum Circuit, and held a spot in George White's Scandals. It was a gay life with plenty of traveling, but strangely enough he found time to write even then.

He believes that he has always been a writer, as long as he can remember, and as a luxury he wrote his first novel, Laughing Gods, which was published in 1934 and which earned him not a cent. It was a careful study of the way a young scientist stumbled upon the discovery that evolution was an unprovable theory — a subject Dixon wouldn't care to tackle today, but it was fun at the time. He sold his first story that same year, to Collier's, and life seemed to open a vista toward a million dollars. Since then he has found it more profitable to sell to magazines, and his three serials, Wild Island, The Siren's Smile and Crest of the Wave, have not appeared between book covers because they are better business as serials.

Dixon explains that his particular method of writing as a job is one that he worked out to suit his own temperament. "I get up at 5:30 and do some reading to get my thoughts in shape, and plan what I'm going to write all morning. By 8:00 when breakfast is ready I know just what I must do — so I sit at the typewriter and stay with it until one o'clock. Then I quit just as quickly as I began."

Fortunately Dixon has enough of a library to make research a simple matter, wherever he happens to be, but he never works from notes, he declares. "I always do enough reading to feel thoroughly familiar with the subject, and then the writing is easy."

There's a new serial about to appear and a few other little matters to occupy Mr. Dixon's time while he and his family enjoy the view of Carmel Bay from their home on Scenic Drive.

Inca Taky Trio, famous Peruvian singers and guitarists, who scored a hit last summer in "Fiesta Espanol," return with five new numbers, magnificently costumed, in "A Night in Granada," new gypsy concert hit from the Opera House, Mexico City, which plays at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, on Tuesday night only, October 14, at 8:30, under the management of William Walker.

Night In Granada Offers Entertainment That Is Different

Praised by leading critics from coast to coast, "A Night in Granada", colorful gypsy concert hit from the Opera House, Mexico City, will be presented Tuesday night only, October 14 at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, under the management of William Walker.

In the company are Inesita, celebrated flamenco dancer, Imma Sumak and the Inca Taky Trio, Peruvian singers and guitarists, Alex and Martita, gypsy dancers from Xavier Cugat's Orchestra, and Paco Avellan, pianist formerly with Carmen Amaya.

All these artists scored an outstanding hit at Sunset Auditorium last August in "Fiesta Espanol". They offer 24 new numbers, magnificently costumed, in "A Night in Granada".

Classical dances of Madrid, sparked with comic jotas of Valencia and sultry zambras of Andaluza, are offered in contrast to Inca folksongs over 1200 years old.

"A Night in Granada" is unique entertainment with colorful appeal for playgoers, balletomanes and concert patrons.

Nadine Conner Opens Pen. Concert Series At Grove, Oct. 20

Nadine Conner, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, opens the 1947-48 season of the Monterey Peninsula Community Concert association, Monday evening, October 20, at the Pacific Grove high school auditorium.

Other attractions in the current series are Father Flanagan's Boys Town Choir, on November 17; Eugene Istomin, pianist, on December 5; and the Saint Louis Sinfonietta, a complete ensemble of 20 artist-musicians, on March 6.

There are no more memberships available, due to the overwhelming response to the one week membership campaign held last Spring, and the limited seating capacity of the Pacific Grove high school auditorium, co-chairman Mrs. Chas. W. Allaire stated today.

Three Merchants Make Speeches at Council Meeting

In addition to holding first reading on an interim ordinance freezing twenty-five foot lots (see edit column) the city council at its meeting Wednesday night worked through a mass of routine matters, among them the Carmel Business Association's request that the street department sweep the sidewalks of the business area.

The letter from the Business Association, discussed in this paper last week, was not read. Instead, Paul McKinstry, representative of the business Association, protested earnestly that the business association wants to co-operate in every way with the city council, and gave a resume of the letter.

The mayor said he appreciated deeply the co-operation of the merchants, but the city couldn't afford at present to put the street department to work sweeping the sidewalks (which the merchants have from time immemorial swept themselves until they got miffed when the city council protested their sweeping their trash into the gutters.)

McKinstry then suggested that the commissioner of health and safety speak to John Roscelli who, Mr. McKinstry says, scatters lettuce leaves and other vegetable miscellany when he tosses the trash boxes back on the sidewalk after emptying them in the garbage truck.

W. T. Mahar said he never swept his trash into the gutter but picked it up carefully and burned it, but that wasn't what he had come to the meeting to say. He'd come to say that the merchants want to co-operate in every way with the city council.

Louis Poulous of Kip's Grocery didn't say anything about how earnestly he wants to co-operate with anybody. He just said that when he sweeps the sidewalk in front of his place of business he picks up the trash in a box and hauls it inside but a lot of other people on his street don't and if they would, there wouldn't be any problem of keeping the street clean.

LEAVE FOR SCHOOL

Two friends who left Carmel to study together at San Luis Obispo College this year are Joe Goodrick and Charles Pitman, both of whom graduated from Carmel High School last June.

Local People To Talk On Radio Program

The National Broadcasting Company has made plans to put Carmel on the air over its regular "Woman's Magazine of the Air" broadcast on Friday morning, October 17 from 9:30 to 10 o'clock.

This "Carmel Day" broadcast Jane Lee will originate from the dining room and lobby of the La Playa Hotel, and will feature a historical sketch of the city and interviews across the breakfast table with some of Carmel's leading literary, artistic, and civic figures.

Plans for the broadcast, which are being made under the leadership of the Church of the Wayfarer, are in the hands of Mrs. Carmalita Benson, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, and Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, the minister.

A breakfast at 8:30 a.m. will precede the radio program, for which a limited number of tickets are on sale.

Deputy Assessor Resigns To Go Into Business In Yreka

Deputy Assessor Harold Studevant has resigned his county office and with Mrs. Studevant will leave next Friday for Yreka, where he has bought a motor court. The former Pine Cone third baseman will not commit himself as to whether or not he intends to organize a softball team in Yreka.

The Studevants have sold their home on Mountain View to Miss Molly Gibbons and her father, William Gibbons, former Carmelites who returned last week from a five year residence in Santa Barbara.

SUMNERS LOSE PET

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sumner are grieved at the loss of their black cocker, Arabella, who died this week in a Peninsula veterinary hospital. She has been a much loved member of the Sumner household for a number of years, and because of her winning ways and sweet disposition will be missed by all who knew her.

WANTS MORE STALLS

Bernard M. Donahoe, proprietor of the Dolores Grocery, at city council meeting Wednesday night resurrected the Dolores Street traffic ghost, which rests uneasily at best, with a request that the city council order traffic stalls to be painted on the other business streets. Dolores and Ocean Avenue are the only streets with painted traffic stalls and over half the faulty parking tags are given out to parkers on those streets.

He believes the Ocean Avenue and Dolores Street stalls discourage poor drivers from parking and doing business on Ocean Avenue and Dolores Street.

Community Chest Workers To Start Home Soliciting

Volunteer workers will begin at once to call on every home in the Monterey Peninsula district that has not yet sent a contribution to the Community Chest. There are thousands who have not answered the mail appeal for funds that will enable the chest to reach the required quota of $53,496.50.

Plans for the house to house canvas were completed at a meeting Wednesday of all district captains, held in the council chamber at Monterey. Those present were W. J. Fossat, president of the Community Chest; Murray Vout, general chairman; Edward W. Cochrane, vice-chairman and publicty director; John B. Morse, campaign executive; Mrs. Marian Todd, executive secretary, and the following district leaders:

Pacific Grove: Chairman John Redhead, Vice-Chairman George W. Simpson and Women's Chairman Mrs. C. M. Freeman.

Carmel: Co-Chairmen Malcolm Foster and Betty Carr and Clayton Neill.

Monterey: Chairman Ray Rudolph, W. F. Fossat, Thomas Norris, George Dollar, Chief Fred Moore, Mrs. Carmel Martin, Fred Larder and Nelson Hyler.

These officials mapped out their campaign and named a list of official volunteer workers who will make the house to house canvas. Most of the solicitors will be adults but in some districts girl scouts, members of boys' clubs and other boys and girls will make some solicitations. Every solicitor will be armed with stickers and official receipts, plus certificates of membership. The officials warn residents not to give any funds to anyone who is not supplied with these credentials.

Some contributors have decreased their contributions this year, sent in by mail, although the quota is increased. These contributors will be asked to increase their amounts to as much as last year and in some instances give more than in former years. Chairman Vout says he feels that every person on the Peninsula should give something to the Community Chest and if this is done the quota will be reached.

IMPROVEMENTS AT GALLERY

A new acquisition at the Carmel Art Gallery is a set of movable partitions which will hereafter be used for arranging an intimate exhibit at the end of the main gallery, to be changed weekly. Mrs. Nellie Montague, curator, stated that this will give more opportunity for display of the work of local artists, since the screened sections may hold from five to ten paintings or some special exhibit such as the tin work of Chloe Wilson now on view.

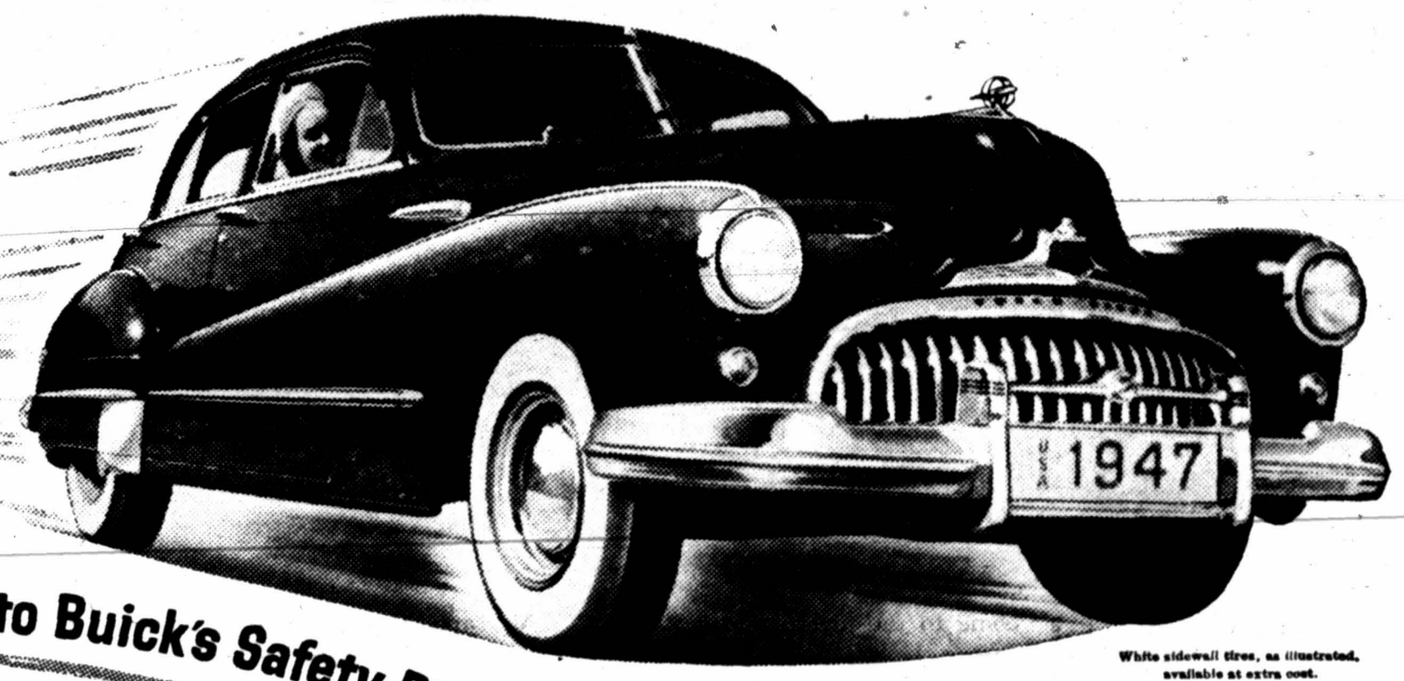
Softer Miles and Safer Miles



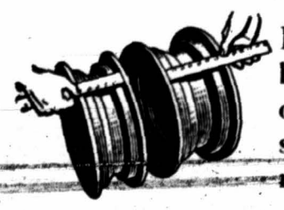
White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

..Thanks to Buick's Safety-Ride rims

You sense it right from the first in the way your Buick handles.

You feel it not only in the cloud-soft ride of this big beauty, but in the way it seems to lean into the curves, the way it holds its "track," answers unfailingly to your touch on the wheel.

The reason? Simply that even before the war, Buick found a way to get greater softness and greater safety from standard-size tires that are available anywhere.



Put a Buick wheel beside a wheel from other cars, and you see at once that Buick rims are wider.

In fact, they are an inch to an inch and a half wider – from 20% to 33%.

By this simple step, standard-size tires of any make are given greater air capacity. This permits lower air pressure and the softer ride that naturally comes from traveling on 25 pounds instead of 30.

In addition, widening the base of the tires gives bracing against side-thrust, as your legs brace you when you stand with feet apart. This checks sidesway and the tendency of a tire to "roll under" on sharp or fast turns.

Furthermore, the tread is flattened. More rubber is put on the road. More rubber means more traction – more braking power – more resistance to skidding – far, far better car control.

And you have only to compare the handling of a Buick with any other car to see the result.

You travel with a soft, level buoyancy that is Buick's own.

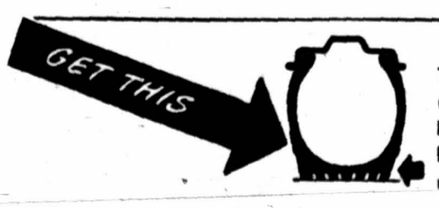
You seem to feel your car leaning into the curves, like a race horse coming into the stretch, instead of swaying outward.

You come out of fast emergency swerves straight and true, with no wheel fight to keep your car on course.

You start, stop, accelerate and turn with a sure-footedness that keeps driving tension away, lets you enjoy Buick's soft comfort to the full.

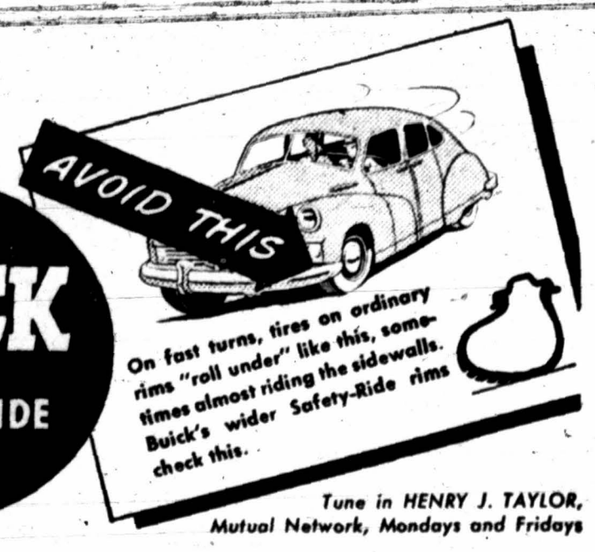
And all this has been true of every Buick built since before the war, with no change in factory-installed tires.

Check up and see. For a softer ride that is also a safer and surer one – get your order in now for a Buick. We'll take it whether or not you have a car to trade.



There's more rubber on the road with Safety-Ride rims. Result: More traction, better braking, better car control, more skid prevention.

ONLY BUICK HAS SAFETY-RIDE RIMS



On fast turns, tires on ordinary rims "roll under" like this, sometimes almost riding the sidewalls. Buick's wider Safety-Ride rims check this.

SERMONS ON IMMORTALITY

"Why I believe in immortality" will be discussed by the Rev. Theodore Bell in a course of sermons on Sundays at eleven o'clock, in St. John's Chapel, Del Monte.

Next Sunday's sermon will be introductory. It will consider the argument for immortality from the viewpoint of the average Christian. The argument from miracle will not be examined as it is much less persuasive today than it was for Christians of an earlier generation. It will be shown that if the basic beliefs of the average Christian are true there is adequate ground for belief in immortality.

The argument on the following Sunday will not be based on the assumption that Christianity is true, but will proceed by the method of philosophy, from the data of the sciences and of experiencing. The third sermon will show that experiment validates the theory that man is a non-temporal, deathless, real existent.

Travelogue And Tea Open Season For Woman's Club

"South America is a continent of many countries, each different from the others, and Peru is most unique in its amazing history." With this introduction, Mr. Clifford J. Kamen presented The Pageant of Peru in colored motion pictures with accompanying narration to the Carmel Woman's Club members and guests at the Carmel Theater last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Benjamin G. Johnson, President of the Club, graciously welcomed the members and guests and introduced Mrs. Verne Skillman, program chairman, who gave a brief resume of the coming year's programs, and presented Mrs. Margaret Moffatt White, a newcomer to the Peninsula, who is organizing Monterey Peninsula Town Hall.

Mrs. Johnson announced that Miss Amy Campbell is Chairman of the Club's Ways and Means Committee, which has already begun a number of projects to raise funds for the new Club house. Mrs. Anne Knox, chairman for bazaars to be held in the Girl Scout House on the mornings of November 3 and December 1, preceding the general meetings in the afternoon, said the Scout House would be open on those mornings at 10:00 o'clock and there will also be a home-cooked luncheon served from 11:30 to 12:30. The luncheons are part of the fund-raising project and reservations must be made in advance through Mrs. Knox or Mrs. Kathryn Lansdowne.

Mrs. Knox also announced that articles donated for sale at the bazaar may be brought to any of the Woman's Club section meetings. There have been several sewing meetings at homes of club members and the next will be held on October 9 at the home of Mrs. Jack Abernethy on San Antonio near Ocean.

Following the meeting a reception and tea, honoring new club members, was held at the Girl Scout House. Hostesses were Mrs. J. O. Handley and Mrs. Raymond G. Smith. Pouring tea were Mrs. Leon Fisher and Mrs. W. E. Heathorne, and the lovely flower arrangements decorating the tea tables and the room were made by Mrs. F. E. Naftzger, chairman of the Garden Section, and by Miss Flora Hartwell.

PETER GRAINER SUCCUMBS

Katherine Patterson Grainer has written friends in Carmel that her husband, Peter Grainer died suddenly from a heart attack, five minutes after he disembarked from the Queen Mary. Mr. Grainer had been in Europe on a business trip. He was U. S. representative of the Phillips Company (a Dutch Corporation) with offices in New York City.

Mrs. Grainer has been coming to Carmel for a number of years and has many friends on the Peninsula who will be grieved to hear of Mr. Grainer's death.

Local N. R. Now Has Full Complement

Commander D. R. Jeffers, USNR, announced this week that the organized unit of the local Naval Reserve had attained its full complement. Meetings are held every Tuesday evening at 7:30, and after general muster the men disperse to various groups under chief petty officers, for the instructional program. At present classes are being held for advancement in radio operation, radar, electronics techniques, gunners mates, boatswains mates and signalmen. Only in the event of removal of a member from this part of the country or failure to attend the weekly meetings will there be a vacancy, in which event members of the volunteer unit will be advanced to positions in the organized unit, where uniforms are supplied and salaries paid.

There are unlimited openings in the volunteer unit from commissioned officers, petty officers and men who have so far had no naval training. As this unit grows it may be possible to form a second organized unit for this area at some time in the future, Commander Jeffers says. Volunteers meet on the first Thursday of each month in the Naval Reserve Armory, the northernmost building of the Coast Guard Base between Monterey and Pacific Grove.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" This question is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, October 12. The Golden Text is taken from Psalms: "He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death" (68:20).

Included in the sermon are the following citations:

Romans: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (12: 1, 2).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth, Life, and Love are a law of annihilation to everything unlike themselves, because they declare nothing except God" (p. 243).

The traditional rivalry between Pacific Grove and Carmel will be put to a test Friday night at eight o'clock when the Carmel Padres meet the Pacific Grove Breakers on their home field. At six-thirty, prior to the game, a pep rally with a new innovation will be held on the auditorium site. The football team, but don't let it fool you, it's really the Rally Club Girls in disguise, will present a sham football game. Immediately following the rally everyone will join in a motor caravan, led by a police guard, which will wind its way over the hill to the Pacific Grove Stadium. The townspeople are invited to come, so save Friday night and join us in the biggest rally and game of the season.

Thursday, October 16, 6:15, will mark the beginning of a new radio program produced and presented by Carmel High School. Mike McClure fulfills the position of reporter, while Elinor Bannerman, Basil Allaire, and Peggy Riker will gather the school news. It is hoped that this attempt by the students to make their activities known will add to the interest of the peninsula communities in our school life.

The Carmel Valley Inn was the scene this Thursday of the annual faculty barbecue. Many of the teachers even braved the cool water of the pool, and of course the food was appreciated by all. With a skit put on by the new teachers, music arranged by John Farr, and no students to cramp their style, the evening was a great success.

Joseph Krill, 43, died at the Community Hospital October 1 of a heart ailment, after having been stricken while on a business trip to Corona. He was a chemical engineer in charge of the Pacific Grove, Corona and Oakland plants of the Owen Illinois Glass Company. He was a talented musician and played violin in the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Krill of San Francisco, his wife, Beatrice Krill of Carmel Woods, and a thirteen-year-old daughter, Beverly.

Funeral services were held in San Francisco, from the home of his parents, last Friday, T. A. Dorney having made local arrangements.

Mr. O'Brien, author of New Men for Old, Terms of Conquest and other novels, was literary editor of the Chicago Daily News and frequently mentioned Carmel environment and events in his daily column, All Things Considered.

Mr. O'Brien was a charter member of the Winnetka American Legion Post, having served in World War I as lieutenant of artillery. His son, Lieutenant Donel O'Brien, was killed in World War II on his ninth mission over Germany.

Mrs. Therese Whiteside will show her latest color photographs of Yosemite Valley, Lake Tahoe, Palm Springs, 29 Palms and La Quinta at Mr. Lee's Theatre in the DeAmaral Barn up the Valley tomorrow evening at 7:30 before the regular moving picture entertainment is begun.

Monday evening, October 13, at 7:30, she will be the guest of Mrs. Leota Tucker's class in photography in the music room of Sunset School. At this time she will show the 50 best color slides of the year, selected in a nation-wide contest at the Buffalo Museum, and one of the 50 is her own which was exhibited in New York recently.

Mrs. Whiteside has been camping again, and this time with her fifth grandchild, the two-month-old Wendy Jean Ross of Halcyon, California, who slept in her bassinet under the redwoods of Pfeiffer State Park at Big Sur, inaugurating what Mrs. Whitesides hopes will be a lifetime of outdoor activity.

CARMEL VALLEY ZONED

The Board of Supervisors met last Monday to consider the zoning ordinance for the lower Carmel Valley and approved all except Section 4 which covers hog ranches and other commercial enterprises not specifically defined. The Board referred the matter back to the Planning Commission for clarification and plans to hold another discussion after the Commission has made its recommendations once more. An interim ordinance covers the situation at present and final approval of the Board of Supervisors should be obtained within a couple of months.

Dion O'Donnol, Publisher, Poet, Skier Thinks He'll Take Up Paper Making

Dion O'Donnol, who has frequently appeared in the poetry column of the Pine Cone, was in Carmel recently, visiting some of his literary friends whom he had never met. A poet who has published other poets, in careful handset type on meticulously selected paper, is not one who makes personal contacts every day, that is, not if he means to read all the great books ever written. Therefore this visit was something in the way of news for the president of Wagon & Star Publishers, who have twenty-five rare editions carrying their imprint. The imprint is a woodcut showing a wagon rolling above the earth, hitched to a star. The motto beneath it is in Gaelic, Ma tha sin an Dan, which means, in English. If that be Destiny.

Dion O'Donnol's own books of poetry, which have been reviewed in many newspapers and magazines, are entitled Eggs in a Blue Bowl, Blades of Breath, Bright Singing Hour, and Many a Fragile Thing. Two of these were reviewed in the Pine Cone with, he says, especial perspicacity. He had invented a verse form which he calls Dionol and which the anonymous Pine Cone writer analyzed adroitly. He wants to know who wrote those articles, for it would be a pleasure to clasp the hand of such a modest friend.

In 1941 he published the first edition of his literary magazine, Silver Bough, and on the cover was shown one of the finest portraits of Robinson Jeffers, who contributed a poem to that issue. O'Donnol also edited the magazine, Destines, during the war, but that ran for only two years. It filled his mailbox with admiring comments from all parts of the country. For 13 months he has been conducting a quarter hour of poetry, Path of Beauty, over KMPC, and issuing a monthly paper under the same name. For nine years he has been editing a weekly poetry column in The Independent, called Bright Mosaic. He also edited an anthology of verse known as Wing Cargoes.

Recognizing the worth of six Filipino poets in this country who might not otherwise have been heard, he published an anthology of their poetry, calling it Chorus for America. Thus he was the first to publish Carlos Bulosan, who is now well known because of his Laughter of My Father.

Dion O'Donnol is black-eyed, and a smile is the only expression at home on his face. He is quiet and never in a hurry, seeming to realize that there is plenty of time for everything. While he conducts short story courses at Associated Colleges and privately at Santa Monica, he is also writing a novel, the first chapter of which has recently been published in the University Review at Kansas City, under the name, Bananas Are Sometimes Red. He talks now of taking time out to learn to make paper because the process fascinates him, and his own next book of verse is ready to be set as soon as he gets around to the press again.

In spite of all his literary adventures, O'Donnol remarked the other day that perhaps his greatest experience was blazing a trail on skis with two other fellows in the mountains above Tahoe one winter. He came away from that with a spiritual growth that gives him a cue whenever he feels a poet's natural homesickness for the outdoor silences. It gives the balance that will probably save him from becoming overly bookish as he grows older, if such an elfish individual ever should grow older.

The first time I met Dion O'Donnol, over ten years ago, he had been spending three months in the desert and had grown a Messiah's black, black beard. As he made his way to my house through Los Angeles, tourists touched him on the shoulder, saying, "Do you mind if I take a snapshot of you?" To each one he answered, "Certainly not," with a shrug. He has been cleanshaven ever since. —Glenn Clairmonte.

MIDWAY SUBSTATION — A $10,300,000 project, including a 212-mile transmission line and a switching station to bring 220,000-volt power from Sierra hydroelectric plants to the Southern San Joaquin Valley.

MORAGA SUBSTATION—A $7,200,000 substation and transmission line project to bring 250,000 additional horsepower of electricity to the power pool serving Contra Costa and Alameda Counties.

MISSION STATION—A new $6,400,000 substation and two transmission circuits to augment the power supply of the San Francisco metropolitan area.

STATION "P" STEAM PLANT, SAN FRANCISCO—A $23,700,000 project that will increase the electric generating capacity of the present plant at Hunters Point from 62,000 horsepower to 360,000 horsepower.

ELECTRA AND WEST POINT POWERHOUSES — Two new powerhouses costing $19,600,000 with a combined generating capacity of 154,000 horsepower on the Mokelumne River.

ROCK CREEK AND CRESTA POWERHOUSES — Two new hydro plants on the North Fork of the Feather costing $61,800,000 and having a combined generating capacity of 270,000 horsepower.

This is the biggest construction job the P. G. and E. has ever undertaken and work is being accelerated as fast as materials and manufactured electric equipment are delivered. So far we are right on schedule to have the vast job done in 1951.

We have four new children in our room. They are Ann Buchanan, Alice McAlpin, Fred Stark, and Merrellyn Douval. Ann's father is a Lt. Col. in the Army. He is at the Presidio in Monterey. —Merrellyn Douval.

One day I went walking with my dog, Midnight. We went through a little jungle and then down to the beach. We went out into the water. Midnight did not like the water so I had to pick him up and carry him out. I put him down in the water and he ran right out. Once when I put him down in the water he ran away from me and I had to run clear down to the golf course after him. Some people on the golf course caught him for me. Then Midnight and I decided we should go home. —Geraldine Hawkswood.

Saturday we had a brush fire in our yard. We didn't know about it. It got bigger and bigger. All of a sudden I saw it. I went outside while Mommie called the fire engine. My brother Billy got a hose and Mommie got a hose. Johnny and I got pans of water. We fought the fire. Then we heard the fire sirens. We were glad when the fire engines arrived. They soon put the fire out. —Teresa Dorman.

Diary of Barbara, our newest operator

"First day at work . . . and I wasn't a bit nervous! I thought I would be, but the girl who is teaching me was perfectly wonderful. I practiced on a special board with one other girl and we had a lot of fun laughing about our mistakes. The work is interesting . . . and I'm paid regular wages while in training.

"I met lots of friendly girls in our comfortably-furnished lounge . . . that's where we get acquainted and enjoy refreshments during leisure periods. All the girls I've met seem to feel that being a telephone operator isn't just another job . . . they say it's a real opportunity for a girl to do helpful, important work that benefits everyone in town.

"I'll get three raises the first year, then a week's paid vacation . . . two weeks after two years. I know I'm going to love my job." . . . We want you to enjoy your job, Barbara. You'll have the security of sickness benefits and a fine pension plan, too. And it's important work—the life of the community and of the country flows through your magic switchboard.

New Working Dollars . . . Millions of new dollars needed to build buildings and buy new equipment to meet the public demand for more telephones and more service do not come from telephone bills. New dollars come from people who are willing to put their savings into the business. We must earn enough to attract these new working dollars.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Tell You're Getting Old

Doc Walters gave me this formula: It's a sure-fire sign you're getting old when you resent other people having a good time.

And the Doc means it hasn't much to do with age. There are old folks in our town who get a big kick out of seeing other people enjoy themselves—seems to keep them young in spirit, with a twinkle in their eyes!

And there are some others who resent the young folks going fishing; who feel that community games and dances are just a waste of time; or who criticize temperate people for enjoying a mellow glass of beer with friends.

They're often well-intentioned folks, too. But from where I sit, the minute we criticize our neighbors for enjoying wholesome pleasures—like a game of horseshoes, a glass of beer, or an afternoon's fishing—it's a sure sign we're growing old (in spirit anyway) no matter what our age is.

Carmel Story . . .

CHAPTER V.
IN MY TIME

BY DAISY BOSTICK

The year 1910 was marked by two important events—the establishment of the Forest Theater and my advent to the town. The first was a very important occasion for the community and the second was distinctly important to me. I was to visit Perry and Bertha Newberry who were old friends of mine. They lived down at the south end of the village on Carmelo in a house which Perry and his dad built. It still stands and bears the name of Journey's End. There were very few houses down there and absolutely nothing between us and the beach. Well do I remember the exaltation that filled me as I ran like a wild person through the sea of flowers down to the beach a few minutes after I had greeted my hosts. Every person in Carmel seems to have a vivid recollection of his first sight of the trees and the ocean and the interesting main street. I've heard thousands of residents and tourists describe their feelings on their never-to-be-forgotten day.

There were at that time no gift nor gown shops. No doctors, lawyers nor dentists. No real estaters excepting the owners of the tract. The only automobile I remember was a much abused Ford in which "Devvy" gave me a ride over stumps and boulders and fallen trees and then finished the pilgrimage by selling me a lot. The grocery store by that time had come into the possession of the Leidig boys and was located on the site of what is now Kip's Food Center. During the years following, Bob Leidig would go out every morning and place on his sidewalk blackboard news of the last Presidential election and the Forest Theater activities, along with bargains in potatoes, lettuce and cabbage.

Although Carmel by that time had a small butcher shop, the meat was brought in mostly on order from Monterey by stage. But the big day of the week was Friday when old John Williams sold fish on the back porch of his cottage in the rear of the lot where the Banbox Gown Shop now stands. It opened on the San Carlos street side, but a narrow alley ran between the present Quality Market and the Banbox Shop, right where the shoe-shining establishment now holds forth. We trailed through the alley and came out at John Williams' porch in the rear. He had a large meat block as I remember and would cut off the head of the fish, clean it and wrap it in an old newspaper while we waited.

Of course the firm of Powers and Devendorf, who had incorporated under the name of the Carmel Development Company, had to have an office to take care of the contracts on the lots they were selling. In the first small grocery store where Staniford's now stands, Devendorf, now affectionately called Devvy, reserved a space for his papers, but could usually be found circulating around the town, greeting his friends, the townspeople, and trying to trap the unwary tourist into buying property. Later the office was moved to a small rear room of what is now the Carmel Drug. Probably the easiest deals in the history of business enterprises were consummated there. For a cash outlay of $10.00—sometimes $5.00—and an agreement to pay $5.00 per month on the principal, a lot could be secured. As for interest on unpaid balances, I don't think I ever paid any. If I did, it was taken from me painlessly and left no lasting impression. There were a considerable number who were unable to keep up their payments and sometimes the amounts owed accumulated over a number of years. Devvy once told me that they had never taken back one piece of property without refunding to the buyer all that had been paid. Some record for a real estate company! And neither did his services stop when he had made the sale. He interested himself in your plans for a house, came into the breach when you were in need of material, sometimes supplied old windows and doors from earlier shacks which were being demolished, gave advice on your garden, always stressing the planting of trees and even giving them to you and having his man-of-all-work, Handy, plant them for you. Many of these plantings are now noble trees. Now applications for the removal of street trees are frequent, but they seldom come from the real old-timers.

At times when the artists and writers failed to sell their output, the groceryman couldn't let his customers suffer—he liked them too well—and many charges were made in his books. The merchants were trusting people in those times. Then one day a painting or a best seller would be sold and that meant a gala day for the seller and his creditors.

A Post Office had been established back in 1903. The first postmaster was Louis Slevin. He was an adventurous soul and several years after he took over his duties he had about a half dozen mail boxes installed—albeit with deep misgivings as to their chances for popularity, but they proved enticing to the fortunate ones who held keys and as the boxes were flush with the sidewalks, it was easy for the horseback rider to ride up on the wooden sidewalk, reach down to his box and get his mail without alighting from his horse.

Slevin also carried a line of stationery, picture postcards, fishing tackle and San Francisco newspapers. At the close of the day's business he left his remaining stock of papers on the sidewalk next to his door with a card bearing instructions to take one and drop a nickel in the slot. For years that custom was followed faithfully and the missing papers always tallied with the nickels thrust through the door. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spencer's House of Cards is carrying on the business and the traditions established by the early owners. And despite some changes in its outline, it is a comfort to the old-timers to see the original building still holding up its head proudly and proclaiming "I—yes, I—am the real pioneer around here!"

When I first arrived here Mike Murphy had already settled down with his growing family and had begun to build houses for the townspeople. Mike's work was good—so good that to this day when building and construction are being discussed, the old residents will say, "Oh, that was a Murphy house!" And Mike even turned on his contagious smile while agreeing to wait for his payments. He still lives in his old home at Ninth and Monte Verde street which saw the beginning of what is now a big lumber business covering several blocks.

There were no cliques in those early days. Writers, artists, businessmen, clerks, laborers—all shared in the good times. Beach suppers, impromptu charades, dances, parties—everyone joined in the hilarity. The Forest Theater was born in 1910 and that became the focal point for both social and dramatic activities. The actors rehearsed, the artists painted the scenery which the carpenters built, and it became quite the custom to cook a supper over the camp fire in front of the stage before the evening rehearsal, saving a pot of coffee for between acts.

Nostalgically, I think of the piney smell in the early mornings back in 1910, the appetizing whiff of bacon being fried on the outside grills, the mussel suppers and campfires on the beach, the foraging for wood, pine cones and bouquets of wild iris on vacant lots, the candles burning down to their sockets as a studio party began to break up, the trails through wild lilac and manzanita to the village. Carmel was a pleasant place in which to live in those three or four decades ago when the old houses were homes that housed fun and laughter and creative endeavor, human understanding and friendliness.

And now the stage seems to be set and it's getting near curtain time. And soon the ghosts of the old houses and the pioneers will walk.

(To be continued next week)

THE WHITE SANDS OF CARMEL

The song of this bay is unending—
Its music does not lean on time;
It flows completed, full without beginning,
Varied with cross-rhythms and subtle rhyme.
There is a silence too in this white sand
Unbroken by all sound. To hear it
Listen beyond beauty. Stand
Facing seaward, light of breathing,
Weightless as the wind.
Let it invade you. There is something
Ultimate in this white and azure,
In this sea and sand embrace.
Infinitude is one with purity—
This is no ordinary place.
Jewels are here for the seeking,
Bright bits of under-water parquetry,
Shells with their delicate veins,
Sea-fern and star-fish of curious design.

A thousand footsteps summered in these dunes
Are blotted out. No trace of them remains.
Winter lies pure of line. We know,
Who love this shore with more than native love,
It is our own. It waits. The blue tides flow
As free today as ever and forever—
The sand lies salt-white to the water's edge.

WILD-FLOWER WEATHER

This is a wild-flower day—
The soft light rain
May-fresh and delicate
Silvers the hills;
Descends in shining veils
Before the trees and upland pastures.
Nothing is rough or violent—
No wind oblique or angular
Drives at cross-purpose to the will of beauty,
All is transmuted—
Drenched with the clarity of light and water,
Showered with a birdless silence.

SAND-PIPERS

Like small grey pebbles
They dribble down the shining sand
To where the wave recedes—
Then turn with the will of the flock
And hurry back again
Pursued by the teasing water.
Moved with a swift-winged impulse
They suddenly rise in a body
Turning the under-wing to the light-sheen,
Glinting against the sun
In perfect form, flight-happy,
A silver echelon.

—DORA HAGEMEYER.

CORRAL DE TIERRA FIRE

Walter S. Markam of Corral de Tierra called the Division of Forestry at 2:00 a.m. October 7 because a fire had started in his barn where 80 tons of chopped hay was stored. The crew of fire fighters found the barn caved in by the time they arrived but were able to protect the rest of the 800 acre ranch. Men remained watching the flames for 36 hours, tearing the hay apart to help extinguish the fire. The cause of the fire is unknown but Mr. Markam believes it may have been due to spontaneous combustion, since he had treated the hay with molasses, preparing it as food for the thoroughbred horses which he raises.

BPWC Dinner

October 5 marked the beginning of Business and Professional Women's Club week with the proclamation of Mayor Fred Godwin of Carmel, Mayors W. R. LaPorte and Hugh Dormody of Pacific Grove and Monterey.

Ray Hillyer at the organization's formal dinner, on Thursday, Oct. 9. The dinner was held at La Ribera in Carmel, and was organized and carried through by Chairman Mildred Raymond.

Miss Ida Best, singer, and member of the organization, accompanied herself at the piano and sang several numbers as the musical portion of the program.

With Nancy Lofton

Have you ever baked any of the winter squash with brown sugar, nutmeg and rum? Look over the squash collection of Manuel Pereira in THE PRODUCE DEPARTMENT of the CARMEL DRIVE-IN MARKET on Dolores and Eighth to find an inspiration for supper. With the squash you'll find a complete line of winter vegetables from local farms and gardens. There's local celery of the Utah type, lettuce, cauliflower, beets, carrots, onions. As for fruits, peaches are with us yet, and strawberries and raspberries may still be had, while apples, fragrant and bright, are coming in from everywhere.

Not to be counting chickens before they're officially hatched, but Dr. Eric Berne's book, The Mind In Action, which has not yet been published has been chosen by the Non-Fiction Book Club amalgamated with the Scientific Book Club as the book-of-the-month for December. Pre-publication orders for the book are coming in in startling numbers and indicate that this book will be widely read and discussed. THE VILLAGE BOOKSHOP is taking orders for it. You might find Dr. Flanders Dubar's new book Mind and Body, a study of psychosomatic medicine, interesting if you're of an inquiring bent. If you'd like a charming and delightful book by all means place an order for Alison Stilwell's Ching Ling the Cricket.

After those years when a bed sheet was as rare and priceless as a pigeon's blood ruby you may now walk into PUTNAM AND RAGGETT'S and see not only sheets, but Pepperell Luxury Muslin Sheets in white and a variety of colors. These sheets are of excellent and durable quality with about 145 threads to the inch, and they have the things sheets should have,—tab marks for identification, strong selvages, and well sewn hems. Best of all, the price for these sheets is down. Even the beautifully colored ones are inexpensive as sheets go nowadays. This price will, however, shortly be higher,—so buy wisely and buy now. The Pepperell Luxury Muslins are yours in yellow, green, rose, blue, peach and white.

When that drift of fog or that pinch of autumn comes into the air you can dispel its effects with a bowl of hot soup at THE VILLAGE CORNER. Ice cream, sundaes, sodas when it's hot, soup when it's chilly, THE VILLAGE CORNER has the answer. In the daytime at all hours you may have home made soup, sometimes chicken, sometimes turkey, sometimes vegetable. At night there's a considerable list of Heinz soups from which you may choose, and they're good, too.

A wonder of an electric train with a smoke stack that smokes, a dump car that automatically dumps coal, searchlights and automatic couplings may be had at RICKETTS AND FREEMAN'S new store on San Carlos between Fifth and Sxith. The set contains 140 inches of running track and is beautifully built to a three sixteenths of an inch scale. The details are magically worked out and the set contains small coal for the coalcar. All for $41.95. If you know anyone who wouldn't be pleased about that you may buy them either an aluminum coffeepot that percolates for $2.95 or a B15 Flight Jacket which includes full zipper, snood, pile lining and many pockets all for $20.00.

For 60c a pound you may have this week end a milk-fed freshly killed and dressed chicken for either roasting or frying from MAC'S POULTRY SHOP on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth. Call 1492-J and ask for Mac to prepare it for you. If you'd rather have turkey that's 65c a pound, but a fine fricassee hen costs only 55c a pound. Then eggs. Mac's eggs come fresh directly and quickly from the growers. Medium eggs are 81c a dozen and extra large ones are 85c and 90c a dozen respectively.

Renjim's new name is JOAN REXFORD'S ICE CREAM PARLOUR, and the same delicious ice cream and home made cake, cheescake, Swiss pastries and other delicacies will be there regardless of the change of name. Today in JOAN REXFORD'S ICE CREAM PARLOUR we saw fine pumpkin pies well hidden under a blanket of real whipped cream, keeping company with angelfood cake smothered under chocolate frosting brushed with toasted almonds. If you don't want to eat cake and coffee between meals, you may have sandwiches and coffee there for lunch or supper or odd hours eating.

THE CYPRESS SHOP is a charming little shop in the Mission Inn in Monterey where you'll do well to look for after-dinner coffee cups, ceramic jewelry, pepper mills, dainty aprons of chintz and organdy and fine tole trays in every imaginable size. There are small individual tole trays which would be pleasing to a hostess and a group of dolls ingenuously contrived out of jointed clothes pins which reminds us of the jointed wooden dolls of our childhood.

Youth Fails To End All With 22

Frank Simon, a 19-year-old visitor from Corning, became disconsolate shortly after luncheon October 6 and, convinced that Edna May Rulon of Orland did not return his affection, attempted to shoot himself four times with a .22 pistol. Two of the bullets lodged in the wall and the other two grazed his skull.

C. E. Dunlap, the owner of the property at 11th and Dolores where the attempted suicide took place, called the Police Department, and the youth was removed to Peninsula Community Hospital for treatment. He was discharged later in the day when it was found that his injuries were not serious.

L.W.V. Favors Aid To Europe

Immediate action for emergency aid to Europe and for machinery to curb domestic inflation is urged upon the national government by the League of Women Voters of the United States in communications to President Truman, to Senator Vandenburg and to Speaker Martin of the House of Representatives. The letters call for continued shipments of food and goods to Europe, pointing out that Americans suffered comparatively little hardship from the war, and are today eating more than before.

"Neither for humanitarian reasons nor from the viewpoint of our own self-interest can we afford starvation in Europe," wrote Miss Anna Lord Strauss, national president of the League. "The revival of a healthy European economy is basic to our own economic and political aims. Stable governments can be maintained only in nations whose people are decently fed. If prices of food rise still further, Americans as well as Europeans will suffer.

"For this reason a program of controls is required to see that available supplies are allocated fairly and that inflation is curbed. A special session of Congress this fall should provide emergency funds to tide European nations over until the Marshall plan can be worked out, and a domestic anti-inflation program should be authorized and put into effect. Immediate steps are needed to start the program. Not only are the economies of Europe and the United States at stake, but also are endangered the political institutions in which we believe."

Public Invited To Progressive Citizens Meeting

An open political forum will be held Friday, October 17, at 8:15 p.m. in the Walter Colton Auditorium in Monterey, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America. The speakers will be David Freidenrich, chairman of the 8th Congressional District for Democrats for Wallace, Elinor Kahn, state director of Independent Progressive Party of California, and Cole Weston, secretary of the Peninsula Chapter of Progressive Citizens of America.

The purpose of the meeting is to stress the essential unity of the differing groups of Progressives who are striving, through diverse mechanisms, toward the same ends. The public is invited to attend.

Stilwell Hall To Be Dedicated On October 18

Mrs. Joseph W. Stilwell and her two daughters, Mrs. William C. Cox and Miss Alison Stilwell, and her son, Benjamin W. Stilwell, will be guests of the Reserve Officers of California and Nevada at the San Francisco Presidio at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, October 18, when Army Building 650 is officially designated as Stilwell Hall in honor of the late General Stilwell. The public dedication ceremony has been authorized by General Mark Clark, Commanding General of the Sixth Army, and Governor Earl Warren has been invited to attend.

The dedication program will take place on a specially constructed stage at the entrance of the building, and the General Stilwell March will be played by the Army Band. The climax will be the unveiling of the memorial plaque, designed by Haig Patigan, during the playing of The Star Spangled Banner.

CONTINUE TWO SERVICES

The board of directors of the Church of the Wayfarer this week passed a resolution to continue the two Sunday services each week since the experiment during the summer proved an answer to the problem of congestion. Both services have been amply attended and it has not been necessary to turn visitors away at the 11:00 o'clock service, since many of the resident members prefer to attend at 9:30. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray preaches identical services at both hours.

With the committee he will return next month on a tour of inspection, stopping at various cities. He plans to leave the committee in Sioux City and fly west in order to attend several important meetings in this county, and will join the committee again at Salt Lake City, November 11.

The final meeting of the tour will be held at Fresno, November 17. Mr. Bramblett has invited the members of the committee to come through San Francisco to Monterey before dispersing, in order that his constituents here may have an opportunity to meet with them.
